A. Meeting adjourned at 2:49 pm

Dear Mayor Edna DeVries and Assembly,

We would like to express gratitude through the Mayor and Assembly for all efforts, including staff and legal, for the work being done with the Library Citizen Advisory Committee. Your leadership and steady hands have begun to turn the tide and restore support for our great Libraries by reshelving inappropriate books.

The community, though often not vocal, has spoken clearly at the ballot box and supported you for the values you hold. We look forward as the Library Board to continuing to bring necessary changes and improvements to help better our Libraries.

We are thankful for all your efforts to enhance the Library collection, making it a safer and more welcoming place for the children and families of the Matanuska Susitna Borough.

Respectfully, Matanuska Susitna Borough Library Board Chairperson, Georgia Knazovich

Other remarks:

Possible challenge procedures:

- 1. Any cardholding patron can challenge one book at a time at their home library. "Home library" is determined by a person's address on the library record. The challenge will apply only to the patron's home library.
- 2. The patron will fill out the attached form and take it to their library. At that time, they will schedule a meeting with the librarian.

The librarian can set up their own calendar system. For example: designate a regular day as "challenge day,", eg 2nd Wednesday of each month. There could be a morning meeting and an afternoon meeting,

A book will be scheduled depending on the dates available and the number of pages to be read. For example: War and Peace could be scheduled for next year.

3. If the Borough feels there should be an appeal process, they could be heard by a designated committee. The committee would meet in the library's community so that citizens of that community could furnish input. The final decision would affect only that library. The Librarian will furnish the borough with challenge and outcome.

A second possible procedure.

The librarian will accept the challenge paperwork and give the patron a date on which they can expect a written answer. There would be no face-to-face meeting unless the librarian feels it is necessary. The rest of the procedure remains the same.

A third possible procedure.

There would be no formal challenge. Make it known to the community that the librarian is available to discuss concerns that their patrons have. Let the Librarian and the patron handle it.

Proposed letter to the powers that be

The current procedure for approving library books has several disadvantages:

Librarians must have their lists ready at the beginning of the month. This removes the ability to take advantage of, and order books for, programs that become available on short notice. For example, an author who will be in town in two weeks for a few days. The librarian could order the books and have them in time to distribute them to readers ,but cannot because the book has not been approved.

Librarians must make lists of everything that think might be ordered, just in case an opportunity presents itself. This makes for very long lists of books that might or might not be needed.

Although we have agreed that the Matsu Borough Libraries are unique to their communities, this system takes the decisions out of the hands of the local citizens and libraries and gives it to a government Board.

Because of these disadvantages the Library Board recommends the current system of review by the Library Board be scrapped. In its place, the Library Board recommends the following system, which would bring the control of the library collection back to the communities and to the librarians. It would also leave challenges in the hands of the people who pay taxes for their local library.
